Business in Balance

An Introduction to ISO 14001:2004

About

Business in Balance: An Introduction to ISO 14001:2004 is an interactive learning module aimed at engaging all users to help them understand and observe the standard in action. More than knowledge transfer, this tool is based on problem solving in a virtual environment.

Business in Balance provides a dynamic web-based learning opportunity to raise awareness of ISO 14001 amongst front line staff members in an organization. The solution requires minimal resource commitments and offers great engagement and behaviour modification. The entire experience typically takes no more than one hour to complete. In this module, students will:

- Explore two fictional companies: the first does not have an Environmental Management System in place; the second is maintaining their Environmental Management System;
- Understand fundamentally how this management system can apply in their workplace; and
- Learn key terms, such as: "Environmental aspect"; "Corrective action"; and "Environmental target".
